Device visibility and control software enables organizations to gain situational awareness of all devices in their interconnected environment and orchestrate actions to mitigate both their cyber and operational risk. Visibility enables an accurate device inventory, continuous compliance enforcement, policy-based access control and rapid response to security incidents.

Typical Use Cases

- An organization has had a recent influx of IoT devices and needs to gain an accurate inventory and risk profile of the devices.

- An organization requires a solution to ensure device compliance from both a regulatory and IT policy perspective.
