EdgeMarket is Proud to Partner with MarylandOnline

Launched in 1999, MarylandOnline (MOL) is one of the country's most longstanding state online education consortia. With 19 member colleges and universities, MOL's mission is to promote online education in Maryland and support member institutions through expertise, networking, and advocacy.

MarylandOnline's activities and services include an annual professional development webinar series, the MOL Leadership Institute (MOLLI); the MOL Seat Bank; and the MOL Database of Online Learning Information (DOLLI).

The affiliate agreement enables MarylandOnline member institutions to access Edge's comprehensive marketplace of educational technology vendors and contracts, while also providing access to Edge's internal nonprofit services in cybersecurity, organizational transformation, digital learning, and accessibility. Importantly, a portion of revenue from services utilized by Maryland institutions will flow back to MarylandOnline to support additional programming and initiatives for its members.

Via the EdgeMarket Affiliate Partner Program, the partnership will provide MarylandOnline's 19 member institutions expanded access to educational technology contracts, services, and collaborative opportunities through Edge's procurement platform and professional services.

"This partnership represents exactly the kind of forward-thinking collaboration that higher education needs today. Partnerships between institutions is really the way we're going to see higher education evolve, and crossing state lines while still managing regulations opens up tremendous opportunities for our members to better serve their students."

— Stephen T. Kabrhel
Dean of Online Learning, Community College of Baltimore County
President, MarylandOnline
